

OctoPerf strengthens its position in the US by partnering with Total Performance Consulting

Aix en provence, the 12th of October 2017, OctoPerf, the performance testing software editor, is proud to announce a new partnership with Total Performance Consulting - an independent provider of software testing consulting services headquartered in Atlanta, Georgia USA.

Total Performance's team underwent the necessary training and testing to obtain official OctoPerf certification and making the company the first trusted partner in the US that can provide effective and reliable consulting services to software companies looking to extract the most value from OctoPerf OnPremise and SaaS load test solutions.

Quentin Hamard, co-founder of OctoPerf says: "The US market is currently our second market in terms of turnover. It was necessary for us to find a reliable partner able to provide onsite and online training as well as consultancy services in harmony with our high SLAs. Beyond this certification, this provides OctoPerf customers assurance of the highest level of customer support even though the time difference between France and US can be over 9 hours. TPC's team has shown a high level of knowledge regarding performance testing and we are proud to partner with them".

Total Performance Consulting is thrilled to become OctoPerf's first certified partner in the United States. OctoPerf's distinct advantage over other tools is its flexibility to work with existing Jmeter scripts while also being able to create new scripts. Additionally, OctoPerf's competitive pricing model allows us to deliver world class services and analysis without compromising on platform capabilities. We are excited to begin using OctoPerf immediately to help our customers tackle their performance and load testing challenges with confidence. - Amit Patel, CEO & Founder of Total Performance Consulting

About OctoPerf:

OctoPerf SAS is a young innovative French company, editor of the SaaS and On Premise performance testing software OctoPerf. OctoPerf seeks to democratize the performance test by offering to its users a simple and inexpensive training and using tool, that guarantees the realization of very realistic performance tests. OctoPerf addresses a worldwide market where the digital shift has made enterprises aware of the need to accomplish performance tests to guarantee the stability of applications. OctoPerf is a facilitator in this market dominated by overly complex and costly solutions.

<https://octoperf.com>

About TPC:

Headquartered in Atlanta, Georgia, Total Performance Consulting provides software testing, QA, automation and load and performance engineering services to top corporations around the world. Over the past 20 years we have partnered with leading companies across multiple industries helping them reach their performance goals and stay ahead of the competition.

<http://totalperform.com>